You should have never told me
That you love me
You should have never told me, told me, told me
That you care

Ever since that day I saw your lovely face
You were on my mind
I knew that one day I would make you love me
It was just a matter of time

Every night and every day, girl
I'm thinking of you
Girl, I can't believe you're mine
Way you kiss, you're right on time

Should have never told me
That you love me
You should have never told me, told me, told me
That you care

If by chance I owned the whole world
I'd give it to you
All I'm trying to say
Love you through and through

Girl, let's stay together for life
'Cause you are my sugar and spice

Should have never told me
That you love me
You should have never told me, told me, told me
That you care

Naw, baby
Oh, baby

Should have never told me
That you love me
Should have never told me, told me, told me
That you care

Should have never told me

That you love me
Should have never told me, told me, told me
That you care

Should have never told me
That you love me
