This letter explains everything
The content it is the truth
Each word could cut like daggers
If I decide to finally give it to you

I've rewrote and rechecked a thousand times
Licked it shut and said my goodbyes
The lines are perfectly written to break
Wide open this conclusion

And it feels like I've already been there
Sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like it won't work out
I'm the one, one full of doubt

I know that time won't change a thing
If we're all moving in slow motion
It's hard to catch up
When the world is weighing you down

And it feels like I've already been there
Sounds like I'm preaching the choir

If it looks like it won't work out
I'm the one

It feels like I've already been there
Sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like it won't work out
I'm the one, one full of doubt

I'm confused
Don't know what I should do now
You, you could lose everything close to you
Tell me how does this feel

When it feels like I've already been there
Sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like it won't work out
I'm the one... yea

It feels like I've already been there

Sounds like I'm preaching the choir
If it looks like it won't work out
I'm the one, the one full of doubt
