I would like to start off by saying
I had everything to do with it
You may think that I lie real well
You can tell that I'm holding it in

Never mind the time
Or the spinning of your head
I can tell my life was life changing
Since the minute I met you

And if I stop ever thinking of you
I'll probably choke on the words I never said
If I stop ever thinking of you
I will bury my heart and fall back in my bed
And what a sight that'll be, yeah

I will never tell you this
But I'm scared of falling apart
It may seem like I'm holding it together
But the weather is making it hard

Never mind the time
Or the spinning of your head
I can tell my life was changing
Since the minute I met you

And if I stop ever thinking of you
I'll probably choke on the words I never said
If I stop ever thinking of you
I will bury my heart and fall back in my bed

And what a sight that'll be
All my friends surrounding me
Just 'cause you made it this far
Doesn't mean you made it

And if I stop ever thinking of you
I'll probably choke on the words I never said
If I stop ever thinking of you
I will bury my heart and fall back in my bed

If I stop ever thinking of you

I'll probably choke on the words I never said
If I stop ever thinking of you
I will bury my heart and fall back in my bed
And what a sight that'll be
