I met someone like Jesus
In the spring of '98
He was so full of love
And I was so full of hate

So I nailed him on a cross
Where he belonged
Told myself it's what
He would have wanted all along

Then I drove into the night
Looking for something to burn
And all those little parables
That I never cared to learn

I don't know what the name for this feeling is
But it's dripping through me
There's something in the corner of my life
That I cannot quite see

And I'm not sleeping well
Though my dreams are so real
Dreamt I set fire to my house
Watched the great beams
Come crashing down

There I was standing
In the ashes of the stairs
They asked me what happened
"Was an accident", I said

I don't know what all this means
And I don't care, it's nothing to me
But there was something
In the corner of that dream
That I could not quite see

And I don't know what this feeling is
But it's dripping through me
There's something in the corner of my life
That I cannot quite see

And there's a happy family snapshot
When you were very small
But there were visits from the doctor
You can't remember what for

Curtains drawn in silence
On a summer afternoon
And the flies
Buzzing in the room

You don't know what this feeling is
And you can't explain it to me
But there was something
In the corner of that family photo
That you cannot quite see

And I don't know what all this means
But it's dripping through me
There's something in the corner of our lives
That we cannot quite see
