Percival is my name, my kingdom is wide at home, my forest, still flies the unicorn a time there was
when my blood ran wild
the dream of strenght last ordered me to live
and I did not even know what I was looking for
a time there was
hurt me to live
and I did not even know
the stone that mays go on the way not to grow on the way to know my destiny on love and faith may be.
Now my hair are grey and there I did not find much.
It's useless to say
but I' ve finally understood It's useless to say
how very hard it is to become a man (2).
