Well, the ice that you're walking on is a-getting thin
And it won't be long till you're gonna fall right in Well, you've been cheating and a-lying
With the money you've been buying
All the clothes that you step out in
You better learn how to swim
Cos the ice that you're walking on is a-getting thin
Well, you better wise up and take this tip from me
Cos I'm tired of your low-down ways, now don't you see
Well, I ain't taking no more
No more walking the floor
And you better let this sink in

You better learn how to swim
Cos the ice that you're walking on is a-getting thin
BRIDGE:
Well, I told you many times how it would be
But you thought that you were putting one over on me
I'll give you one more chance
But don't you let it happen again
Cos the ice that you're walking on is a-getting thin
(BRIDGE)
I'll give you one more chance
But don't you let it happen again
Cos the ice that you're walking on is a-getting thin
