Diana:
We were still living downtown...
My black coat thrown over
My blue nightgown...
You drove too fast-
The lights of the city flew past.

How could I ever forget?
Outside the morning
Was cool and wet.
He had such chills...
But still-he lay there so still.
Just eighteen months old...
So cold...

We ran him inside,
Lost, worrying, wondering.
That hospital room-
That gloom-

How could I ever forget? Dan:
Screaming at doctors- How could I ever forget?
Alarmed, upset. God I was so upset.
They said to wait, Diana-don't.
They never said You think this will help,
We were too late. But it won't.
But I was child... So many years ago...
Raising a child. So much we could not know...
Those weeks full of joy...
Then a moment of dread-
Someone simply said
Your child...is...

Dan: Diana:
How could I ever forget? How could I ever forget?
This was the moment Moment
My life was set. My life was set.

Dan & Diana:
That day that I lost you-
It's clear as the day we met.

How could I ever forget?
