Now when the shit goes down, I'm always forced to grow
Forced to see all the things that I still don't know
And if there's one thing I've learned It's never too late to take a fucked up life to a beautiful state

'Cause I came from the bottom so I treasure the top
At times it seems the dreams are just a long shot
When the world's crashing down, and the drama wont stop
Your chained to the past and you cant break the lock

'Cause nothing could be more beautiful
Than watching the whole world crumbling down on me
So beautiful, so beautiful to witness the end

How far will I go and will I grow, will I learn to know

My addiction used to hold me, like a lover feelin' lonely
I was down by broken dreams and when I felt the world owed me
I'd sit and hit the walls until my fists were cut and swollen
My soul was cold and drownin' from the tears I've tried to hold in

Overwhelmed by my emotions and haunted by the past
My head was overheatin' and my heart was in a cast
My mind was in the gutter, my ass was in a sling Driven by destruction, young and fuckin' everything

'Cause nothing could be more beautiful
Than watching the whole world crumbling down on me
So beautiful, so beautiful to witness the end

How far will I go and will I grow, will I learn to know How far now will I go and will I grow Beautiful, so beautiful, so beautiful, beautiful

'Cause nothing could be more beautiful
Than watching the whole world crumbling down on me

So beautiful, so beautiful to witness the end

'Cause nothing could be more beautiful
Than watching the whole world crumbling down on me
So beautiful, so beautiful to witness the end

'Cause nothing could be more beautiful
Than watching the whole world crumbling down on me
So beautiful, so beautiful to witness the end
