I've been running on, running on empty
For way too many miles now
I've been flying with broken wings
(And now I'm falling faster to the ground

And it's a bitter end to a story so sweet
Like a long lost friend
That's never found a way back to me
And I can't deny these memories
Got me all locked up inside
And you hold the key

All that I need is this moment
To send me away with a smile on my face
I tried to leave but I turn back
On my heart remains a trace

All that I seek is this moment
All day in my mind I recreate
If there was a way to get back
This feeling of chase... of chase...

All that I need is this moment
This moment...
