"I'm running down the streets now.
What I've become a fucking stupid.
I'm running to forget all about my past and future.

And nothing can really stop me.
I'm on my way, I'm out of here.
And I can't keep from crying,
When I think about the things I should done.
When the sparks they fly you know I'll be gone.
When the sun is hot then you now that I'm done.

I'm sorry I never told you,
I don't fit in among you people.
And I can't keep from lying,
When I see you spreading you beautiful life.
When I tell you we can be man and wife.
When so much of nothing is past through my life.

And I can't keep from crying.
When I think about the things I should done.
When the sparks they fly you know i'll be gone.
When the sun is hot then you now that I'm done.

Yeah that I'm done.
Yeah that I'm done.
Yeah that I'm done.
Yeah that I'm done."
