WHO I AM

Words & Music by Nick Granato

Wasted too much time trying to figure it out

Complicated up the truth with doubt

Should have listened to my inner voice

Said I never really had a choice

I heard what they all had to say, but I never felt the same

I couldn't share my point of view, in fear of what I'd lose

I questioned and I reasoned why, no place to run, no place to hide

(CHORUS)

And I traveled down this beaten path

Too scared to look, too lost to ask

And I did my best for being just a man

Well (no) I'm not the first, I won't be the last

To make my way and not turn back

On this journey only few can understand

Down this long and winding road to who I am.

So many years in search of truth, through the pain I missed the proof

In hindsight I can clearly see, the way it was supposed to be Broken hearts and sleepless nights, wasn't what I had in mind,

But I knew deep down in time, all the wrongs would turn out right

(CHORUS)

(BRIDGE)

Some disguised as friends, but really demons

Armed with their smiles and hidden reasons

Through all the trials and all the treasons

I heard wisdom from my past

Saying "hold on, this too shall pass"..

(CHORUS)

No I'm not the first, I won't be the last

To make my way and not turn back

On this journey only few can understand

Down this long and winding road down this long and winding road

To who I amâ€¦. To who I amâ€¦. It's who I amâ€¦.
