If you told the truth
She'd be holding you
A life so self-imposed
The child is losing hold

And then she haunts you once again
Catching glances, slide of hand
She really got to you my friend

And then it haunts you once again
You're unwilling to pretend
This silent heartbreak has no end
No end

But you're so scared
Scared to be alone tonight
Does anyone know who they really are
You're so scared
Scared to be alone tonight
Will she find you before all the stars collide?

You thrill to her touch
She knows this, all too much

And then she haunts you once again
Catching glances, slide of hand
She really got to you my friend

And then it haunts you once again
You're unwilling to pretend
This silent heartbreak has no end

And you're so scared
Scared to be alone tonight
Does anyone know how to break this spell?
You're so scared
Scared to be alone tonight
Will she find you before all the stars collide?

Will she find you before all the stars collide?

Will I?
