

Cree Summer "Soul Sister"

Visit "Soul Sister" on MotoLyrics.com

Had a friend once upon a time who had a hunger to learn

Good and bad was all she had and all she was concerned

She found out they were one and the same

The truth don't need to have a name

She loved to share with the moon soon she shared with me

The adventure this life could be

If we just let ourselves be free

She gave me peace of mind

Like a butterfly song to a rainbow shrine

And today feels good

We never answered too much we asked all the time

Why it was always looking and what there was to find

We threw it all into the wind laughter sharing

Me and my best friend

Her voice was fine and it eased my soul

Her face was young but her eyes were old

And magic would unfold

We worship the goddess of the earth

Daughter of life, mother of birth

We belong where the mystic is strong

Humming a butterfly song

And today feels good soul sister

Visit Cree Summer page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.