Couldn't find where to rub myself
I didn't want to close my eyes
I would scream just to shake myself
Just to wake myself inside

Broken into human parts
I was sheltered by his chin
Lives spent in wet cement
Underneath his skin

Still on my neck, the breath of the dead
Even at blood and bone
I can tolerate a still heart
But I can't stand being alone

Open me up anywhere you wish
Take out anything you like
Seal me up when you're through
Leave a little room for surprise

Made myself new one too many times
To swallow his breath away
I left too much space upon my back
To ever make him want to stay

Still on my neck, the breath of the dead
Even at blood and bone
I can tolerate a still heart
But I can't stand being alone

Still on my neck, the breath of the dead
Even at blood and bone
I can tolerate a still heart
But I can't stand being alone

I can't stand being alone
I can't stand being alone
I can't stand being alone
I can't stand being alone
I can't stand being alone
