

Crematory "The Game"

Visit "The Game" on MotoLyrics.com

Your life defined by many lies
You dwell in your own words
Distant from all that's real, gaze into the mirror
And behold the face of a player

A game of life, the game of life
A game with your life, the game
A game of life, the game of life
A game with your life, the game of life

In some situations once so common
And then disappointed stabbed those
That once aided you in the back
Seeking truth in a glass

A game of life, the game of life
A game with your life, the game
A game of life, the game of life
A game with your life, the game of life

A game of life, a game of life

Aggressive and disappointed
You roam through life
Tossing away your whole future
For a small illusion in your head

A game of life, the game of life
A game with your life, the game
A game of life, the game of life
A game with your life, the game of life

A game of life, the game of life
A game with your life, the game
A game of life, the game of life
A game with your life, the game of life

Visit Crematory page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.