im so over you
ur in the past
u cant control me now
i let u go

i used to think that you had a hold on me u could control me u just touch me and i was yours but now i realise that your no better than me im my own person and i have better things to do than waste all my time and love on you

it took time for me to realise your not worth anything u cant control me if i dnt let you so now i just smile and say no no i wont call you up no i wont come arround no i dont want to see you and no i love you now

even when i got an new man i was so happy u tried to mess it up saying sorry and that you changed for a moment i believed you but was all front online when i talked to you at that party i realised your still the same im still with that guy and i love him and the way he loves me he would never be like you so as the curtains close and they go happily ever after look who got the girl and who is on their own
