"High Class High"

by the NiDs from the 1987 release "Music to Detassle Corn By" lyrics by Dave Peters

Druggies smoke pot and they have long hair

They're not kids who snort coke who's parents are millionaires

Druggies wear t-shirts and ripped up jeans

We never see their pictures in GQ magazines

Chorus: Money will get you high, with the better drugs it buys

The rich is getting high, it's a high class high

15 year old girl is a heroin addict

She steals her parents dope from their stash in the attic

Chairman of the boards says initiate drug test

As he snorts a line of coke from this executive desk

Chorus

Workers produce less if they're chemical addicts

Which makes it harder for the rich to support their drug habits
