why can't you comprehend just take a look around why can't you see my side you just look at me and frown what i'd like to show you now is what you'll never see put me down and punish me call me a bad seed this isn't your first time why can't you stay in line there is no more i can do to help you when it happens all the time you're just not our kind I wish we would see things through please help me now i've fallen down can you pick me up again now i'm stuck in a hole there's no way out i wish you could hear my screams or even hear my shouts what i'd like to show you now is what you will never see you give me exactly what i don't need
