I've become impossible holding on to when when everything seemed to matter no more the two of us (all used) all used up and beaten up watching fate
as it flows down the path we hav chose

you and me
we're in this together now none of them can stop us now we will make it through somehow

if the world should break in two until the very end of me until the very end of you awake to the sound as they peel apart the skin they pick and they pull trying to get their fingers in well they've got to kill what we found well they've got to hate what they fear well they've got to make it go away well they've got to make it disappear the farther I fall I'm beside you as lost as I get I will find you the deeper the wound I'm inside you forever and ever I am a part of

we're in this together now

when all our hope is gone we have to hold all that we were is gone but we can hold on

you and me

even after everything you the queen and I'm the king nothing else means anything
