

Nineteen Wheels

"Good Enough"

Visit "Good Enough" on MotoLyrics.com

(R.J. Johnson/Owens)

How'd we wind up here?

Who would build a sandbox on a faultline?

I can taste the dirt when I'm by myself

I could dig for days with just your help

Will you come along?

I think it's big enough for both of us a shovel and a pail should be good enough and that's good enough for me

don't hurt me now

don't take my place

don't let me fall

don't fill my space

with every step you take

I'll take two more back

four feet on my heart and it's about to crack

We'll make a home right here who's ever known a castle made of matchsticks?

I can feel the flame when I'm by myself

I could burn it down with just your help

will you come along?

I think it's big enough for both of us a hammer and a nail should be good enough

and that's good enough for me

don't hurt me now

don't take my place

don't let me fall

don't fill my space

with every step you take

I'll take two more back

four feet on my heart and it's about to crack

Visit Nineteen Wheels page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.