Last night, I had a dream about a girl.
She was walking all alone, to a place she learned as home.
And that night, the girl looked into her mirror.
She was trying to find the light, that would make her life much clearer.

So when the storms come in, could you spare a night
Just to live, and laugh, and see that sparkle in your eyes.
And tonight girl imma show you what your worth
You'll see the life that you deserve
All along this dusty road, you have learned

You've got November's Eyes
Just like your mothers pride
You've got a world, go live in it girl
I'll be by your side
You've got November's Eyes
Just like your mother cried
In her last words
She came down to Earth
Said her soul's still alive
You've got November's Eyes

Wednesday night, and I'm walking down a street
And I see a girl, she looks right up to me
I wondered what was wrong
Why her face was full of tears
So we talked for a little while
And her life it came out clear.

You got November's Eyes
Just like your mothers pride
You've got a world, go live in it girl
I'll be by your side
You've got November's Eyes
Just like your mother cried
In her last words
She came down to Earth
Said her soul's still alive
You've got November's Eyes
