Lyrics: Pett

Music: Clement, Antonio, Pouchin

I wish people would snap out of their conditioning
But the system has already programmed our destiny
I feel so misunderstood, all turned into machines,
But the system has already programmed our destiny

Refrain:

No more respect...no more dialogue

We are no longer humans

No dialogue, no respect

We are no longer humans

No dialogue, no respect

Getting use to the idea we're only here for a short stay

But the system has already programmed our destiny

I wish I could live forever among my people

But the system has already programmed our destiny

Just a few moments

No time to loose, cause time is only seconds...

It's for you to see, you know where you have to be

It's your lifem your destiny
