I've seen this happen to myself
Just one look makes me wanna scream
This seems so real but it's just a dream
You're tearing me apart like you always do
With the torture and the pain that you bring

It's like a nightmare that you can't believe
Like being held underwater and trying to breathe

There's a fire inside and I have no way out
I thought I was dreaming but I was wrong
I should have known to end this all along
(End this all along)
I can't escape this pain, so you can say
(Enough is Enough)

Just the little things you bring me down so fast
The bad memories that have never passed
And the darkened sky that will pass me by Reminds me of the times when I wanna cry
And when I couldn't fall asleep to rid you out from my mind
When I couldn't find you there right inside my arms

It's like a nightmare that you can't believe
Like being held underwater and trying to breathe

There's a fire inside and I have no way out
I thought I was dreaming but I was wrong
I should have known to end this all along
(End this all along)
I can't escape this pain, so you can say
(Enough is Enough)

My rage spits fire right through your head

There's a fire inside and I've found my way out
I thought I was dreaming but I was wrong
And I have known to end this all along
I have escaped this pain
