Translation:

Standing in the heart of the desert

I have not one star

The wind is silent

The sand will not preserve my footprints

Standing in the heart of the desert

I have not even one star

And the wind is not whispering to me...

I called out: answer me!
He did not answer.
I cried out: open!
He did not.
The night was burning hot and dry
I went to a different gate to try

I called out: answer me!
He did not answer.
I cried out: open!
He did not.
The night was strangling and sedate
I went to try a different gate.

I whispered: answer me...
He did not answer.
I pleaded: open....
He did not.
That morning the sun rose, but dew wouldn't fall
Thus I was found by the guards of the wall.

3. Three days his memory haunted me.
And on the fourth I cut the bread
And on the fourth I opened the window
And on the fourth I saw the sea...

Three days his memory haunted me.
And on the fourth I knew
The sea was beautiful and blue
and in the salty breeze
The scent of waves
But not the taste of tears.
