"It's Not About A Tree"

Don't wanna know if I miss you don't wanna know if you do we both felt home once being alone and now I see yours shoes soaked I should've stay 'cause the world didn't matter
I should've stay 'cause the world didn't matter

And I pictured your eyes and dwelled on your name

But you fell in love with a tree you fell in love with a tree

Don't you dare say I didn't want to go and hold you Don't you dare say I didn't want to go covered with dust
lifted by the air
covered with dust
lifted by your breath

But you fell in love with a tree
you fell in love with a tree and I fell in love with a girl but you never saw that I was in love with that girl in love with a tree
