This is not my day everything looks like being in slow motion but I'll try to change my faith today, my destiny today Take a good look around What the hell am I doing here? wanna drown in the deep yellow brown ocean where I really can for a moment forget

I realize that all this shit disappeared the night before this hang over the bad thing is that memories appear again so again I'll fall apart

This is not my night by the way I don't remember a thing at all maybe a heavy night of drinking can turn into a beautiful song but I'm not in the mood of playing something new

disappeared the night before this freaking hang over the bad thing is that memories appear again

just disappeared the night before this hang over the bad thing is that memories will appear again
