Where have all people gone?
Where is your skin when I'm in this bed lying My shoes seem covered with snow and I used your words to keep them dry

I'm miles away but I feel you here I'm far away but closer than yesterday

Cotton is floating and I use it to build a castle It's weak and fake and useless like some of the stories I've told to my friends

And I'll play a song to keep you awake And I'm weightless so I will let the wind take me where you are
