We're all constantly festering
Growing, spawning out of control
A cancerous mass upon this earth
Not caring how we take our toll

Destruction, we want
Destruction, we want

The media doesn't mind feeding into
Our subconscious craving for homicide
And no one ever questions why we
Breed to live then live to die

We're all part of this big machine
A monster called
Society If you think that you are immune
You'll be the next one it will consume

Why would you care
You're already there

Destruction, we want

We raise our boys to fight our wars
Raise our girls to be their whores
Spoon-fed lies and raised on hate
We kill and consume what we create

Why would you care
You're already there
Destruction, we want

(We'll take what we can get)
Murder is just what this world wants
Murder is what makes the world go round
Murder is just what this world needs
Murder is what makes the world go round

No one seems to care anymore

Our morals have turned to open sores
So now we sit and wait and hold our breath
For the TV to give us our daily dose of death

Why would you care
You're already there
Destruction, we want

Murder is just what this world wants
Murder is what makes the world go round
Murder is just what this world needs
Murder is what makes the world go round
