Remember when America
Had a middle class and an upper class
That was way before the exodus
That was the America that we thought was number one
Thought would overcome, thought would never die

That was just our pride and faith
Two shitty deadly sins
I know faith isn't one of 'em, but it should have been Cause some things are crumbling
We have no camaraderie, just a faith
Someone would save us from despondence

We called it America, woooooah
We called it America, woooooah

"Number one America"
Was the slogan used
To keep moral up when we knew we were already cooked
Then the richer western states succeeded in secession
And the eastern ones followed right behind
Mexi-Can-America was the perfect name
That epitomized the order significance, authority
And affluence, we had turned it all around
Went from number one straight to number two (shit)

We called it America, woooooah
We called it America, woooooah

National Bankruptcy
Circumcised Society
USA dined and ditched
FOX Reports "poor is the new rich"

We called it America, woooooah
We called it America, woooooah
We called it America, woooooah
We called it America, woooooah
We called it America, woooooah
