Please believe me when I say
For your love I have to stay
Follow me come this way
Come with me, you must obey

All you want is for me to try
I push so I hard I almost die
I have to ask, "oh god why?"
I always look toward the sky
For the answers you refuse to give
This life we have we can't relive

Why should we fight with all this pain?
There is so little to regain
But for this you know I try so hard
But all you show is disregard

Cover our selves with our excuses
They listen close to our responses
The accusations made of us
Lately there's been too much mistrust

All you want is for me to try
I push so I hard I almost die
I have to ask, "oh god why?"
I always look toward the sky
For the answers you refuse to give
This life we have we can't relive

Forced into submission, the pressures building up
Pushing ever faster, it's almost time to jump
It's time to get out of this game
I must leave before I go insane
