From behind the walls of evolution i spy upon the lovers they're talking in tongues try to find the logical solution i'm jealous of the others they've all got someone someone that they can tell their secrets to but my secret is you

& the language you speak
when you're making love to me

wherever we go
there's light in our eyes because we know the secret language of love it cannot be taught
it comes from within from under the skin, the secret language of love i just had a frightening revelation that i don't want your body if i can't have your soul

love is more than simple copulation the heart remains on fire as the body grows old sometimes i need to tell my secrets to somebody like you who knows the language i speak when he's making love to me

when you're making love to
& the language you speak
