Keep the flight of the eternal fire
The deepest sense of my return
Hard in my send the Past of the ancient glories

Equally existences of dark and shine
Of black and white
Upon theories of unstable human feelings
Dominated by his own creation

Suffering the paradox of human being
Hiding feelings, the secrets shouted
In the ear of some black wolf
That confess the most fear emotion
Will resides in the eye of her moon

... Give us life until your death
And confuse my sense before the day of my damn
Compare my darkness, without serenity
Share with me the god's desire of eternal life...

Cosmically principles of existences
Chaos before order
How short is the count of your memories
Never return cause you never leaves us
