when the glare of the of the sun is fading away when the love for someone just drifts away when the best seems to be just an illusion when hope stirs in confusion when the wealth of the world is like a mustard seed and the mountain of my pride shattered at your feet when the fear of the night faces the end I'm in your presence once again oh just wanna feel your touch your gift straight from heaven above that surrounds me makes me see that there's nowhere else to be to you I can flee, your longing kisses me tenderly yes I'm free

you are more than life will ever give to me your love and devotion set me free you are more than mercy that never comes to end becoming thirsty for you my friend more than life ever gives to me love and devotion set me free more than mercy that never ends thirsty for you my friend when I bow my head and I bend my knees when I feel the tears of your pain roll down my cheeks my heart starts beating faster, faster and faster for the lost ignore the master when the intimate times are more than I can take When truth pays the price for my own sake when desire of your heart touches my soul a father's love takes control
