I remember the night was cold
The rain falling outside
A broken window
You were there,two steaming bodies
Lying side by side
The night of a lifetime
Had too much champagne , All I can recall
The last thing I heard
Was the closing of your door

[Chorus]
Am I your only man?
Wish you could understand
What you did with me
You should have know that I cared
Am I your only man?
Wish you could understand
But I Don't blame you
It felt so good to be there

When the door closed
You could slice the tension in the air
Anticipation , she called me over by her side
My heard was racing
I had to go there
Had too much champagne
All I can recall
The last thing I heard
Was the closing of your door

[Chorus]

I always though that I could be a different kind of guy
I always thought that she would be more than just one night

[Chorus]
