"Breaking"

I have nothing to say
I have no more rage
I lie in the bed we made

But it's hell being alone
And hell being a ghost
In the shadows of your face now that

Every part of me is unraveling
I never thought we could separate
And now I feel like I'm breaking

Given what you want isn't what you need
In the circumstances I'd take anything
I'm lost but I do understand it was you love
That gave me chance

I have nothing to give
I have nothing to live for
I know that always made you scared

But I tried a million times
I have a million tries
And I'm not sure I care now that

Every part of me is unraveling
I never thought we could separate
And now I feel like I'm breaking

I always wanted you to know
I will hold you forever close
And if we don't make it on our own
I will be someone you can hold

If you feel like breaking

Nothing that I could ever do
Nothing that I would say could convince you
Nothing that I could fix and now it's over

Nothing left for me to change

Nothing except for you to hear me say
That nothing I can do
Would make me feel that same
And now I feel like I'm breaking...(Down)
