Do you still believe in faith?
Do you still believe you have it?
Do you still believe it's safe?
Do you still believe it's tragic?

Do you still believe in hell?
And do you still believe in praying?
Shine a light upon me now
With the things you knew too well
Both are surely fading

Honestly I do not know
What I believe in and what I don't
I used to believe in
The things that we knew
Came with a purpose
But there's no proof
So how about you?

Do you still believe it hurts?
Are you taking it for granted?
This cold and bitter curse
Bound to you by words
Written in the granite
Can you stand it

If honestly I do not know
What I believe in and what I don't
I used to believe in
The things that we knew came with a purpose
But there's not proof
So how about you?

Do you still believe it's wrong?
Do you still believe you own it?
if the power of a song defined where you belong
In a perfect precious moment
Would you notice?

Honestly I do not know
What I believe in and what I don't

I used to believe in
The things that we knew came with a purpose
But there's no proof...no there's no proof

So what to do but shine a light upon me now
With the things you knew too well
