One last confession, making it seems that things are ok.

Make one last question, to answer those that felt pain.
It seems that we are, playing it too far.
It such a distraction, for the times that we have do shame.

So I have repented, for the faults that I created.
Controlling this way, I have it dripping at my heart.

So what if you are alone? When you have ten thousand friends.
To change the fact I am there, I have twisted the plans.
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)

Taking all the blame, stealing all the fame
I hide myself in a corner. For you to come and decipher.
Hide it in my heart, bursting up I don't know how.
I have been broken, from the friends that I have made.

So what if you are alone? When you have ten thousand friends.
To change the fact I am there, I have twisted the plans.
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)

So what if you are alone? (So what if you are alone?)
When you have ten thousand friends. (When you have ten thousand friends.)
To change the fact I am there. (To change the fact I am there.)
I have twisted the plans. (I have twisted the plans.)
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)
Ten thousand friends (Ten thousand friends...)
