I'm known for giving up and giving in
I'm not sure what I've got to end to begin
I've been making my way through these mazes
Where to turn
How to feel
What to say
When I'm searching through these mazes

One chance is all we ever have It's all we ever get
So let's make the most of it
We know we may fall the first time
We come back stronger the next time
Might be hard, but we'll take it
Life is just what you make it

I'm done with putting on the same old show
They say boy that's just how the story goes
I will find a way to break myself down
So I know
I can change
If I try
It's just a matter of place and time

It's all we have
To get this right
If you feel like breaking down just plant your feet to the ground
Look around, I think you'll find things will get better in time
