I wonder if she regrets turning out the lights
I can recall every word that you exhaled
And I hope she memorized every move she made
Because it was the best revenge I've ever had

You salted my wounds
I reopen yours
So how do you like me now?
I've set your world on fire
So how does your heart beat now?
I've set your world on fire

I hope you enjoyed every second with him
Cuz now I'm taking up all of my time
I'm going to cause some drama of my own
Under this blanket of dishonesty

You salted my wounds
I reopen yours

So how do you like me now?
I've set your world on fire
So how does your heart beat now?
I've set your world on fire

You left out the most important part
The part where you broke my heart
The part where my fist met with your wall
You tried to forget it all

So how do you like me now?
I've set your world on fire
So how does your heart beat now?
I've set your world on fire
