it shows(the lines in my face grow) like a feeling i've never known it's a sense of emotion i've never shown it shows(the lines in your face grow) your cold blood hardly flows you put that smile on for show i know(things haven't been the same) that we've feel victim to a change and the pieces have been rearranged i know(time has somehow slipped away) that we will rest in peace someday and try to remember what's here today

so i confide every thought i've ever had

this time you're mine
