If only the stars in the heavens could tell the story
If only the mightiest ocean could speak
If only the mountains could cry out we would hear them
And all would believe, every knee would bow
All would be free, heaven would be here now
Chorus:
If only the wind could whisper words and carry
The Truth to all the earth
It would speak the name of Jesus Christ
The Great I Am, the Truth, the Life.
The song of creation aches through the land
Voices are joining in harmony
Beyond the golden horizon truth is waiting
All all will believe, every knee will bow
All could be free, if only they'd see
(Chorus)
(repeat twice)
