[Chorus]

She got a red dress on with a body that could kill it
Baby you so high see you walking on the ceiling
I know you try to hid the pain
But you the motherfucking realest

That I ain't never seen the scars so pretty
I never seen the scars so pretty

You out looking for a good time
Have a couple mollies with a good time
Faded
Celebrating on my good life
You would think she had a good life,
But she jaded, jaded

And I could see that hurt inside, baby when that curtain rise
Wide open, it's bright lights, eyes open
Workin time, the whole world is your stage
The audience applause,
You put on a good face
But you just wanna get lost

[Chorus]

She got a red dress on with a body that could kill it
Baby you so high see you walking on the ceiling
I know you try to hid the pain
But you the motherfucking realest
That I ain't never seen the scars so pretty
I never seen the scars so pretty

Stay sippin till the last call
I think she was trippin off the last cup
Her family gave up, gave up
So she smoking till she blast off, yeha
In the sky like a black hawk, somebody save her, save her

Now you think that feelings right, own it till that feeling numb

Yea I know that feelings hurt,
But where you get that healing from?
Don't you know that it cost, not everything that you bought
There's some things we pay for,
I'm sorry for your loss

[Chorus]

She got a red dress on with a body that could kill it
Baby you so high see you walking on the ceiling
I know you try to hid the pain
But you the motherfucking realest
That I ain't never seen the scars so pretty
I never seen the scars so pretty.
