Ain't it true what they say
Every dog has his day?
I never had mine, I guess it was time
Send me on down the line one piece at a time

She got her way
I bet it made her day
Through me off to the side
Took me out for a ride

Kicked me down to the curb
Now for all that it's worth
I'm lookin' to find
One that's broken like mine

Broken like mine
For some piece of mind
I'll be happy when I find
A love less unkind broken like mine

I wish I was in her shoes
With nothin' left to lose
Carry myself down
To the lonely side of town

Tell her just how I feel
I need something now that's real
Don't you tell me love is blind
A heart ain't got that kind of time
Unless it's broken like mine

Broken like mine
For some piece of mind
I'll be happy when I find
A love less unkind broken like mine

Broken like mine
For some piece of mind
A love less unkind broken like mine
