I met there by the stairs

She seemed to catch my eye

An unknown love sent from above

The last before I die

We carried on through the years, getting worse and worse

As time went on our love was gone, never ending course

I couldn't see why she left me

All I could see was death

I'd made my mind to leave behind

My body, my life, my breath

I'll buy a gun, have some fun

Blowing my brains out the back

A helpless try to make her cry

As I perish into the black

She kissed me, she killed me

The love that once filled me turned black inside my heart

She kissed me, she killed me

Life no longer thrills me - death to me my only friend

Soon to be just a memory I sit and stare at the gun

On this night, a silent night
My life of death has begun
On to my lips th cold barrel sits
Aiming for my instant death
I pull the lever, its now or never
As I breath my final breath
She kissed me, she killed me
The bullet that fills me will stop the sorrow and hell
She kissed me, she killed me
You know I go willingly leaving this world behind
