here is a pocket full of life with no solution take it for what it is its only drunken lies you should open up your mind look to the future you could be waiting for the ship that sails you home
i'm going home

what would you give me for the songs that i've been singing help her to ever say that you've got more than me mick says that he can never get no satisfaction these days i think i know exactly what he means what does he mean

you won't get
you don't get
what you need
life is a strange thing
you won't get
life is a strange thing now
