Nightfall will enlighten our minds this day
Will we ever see again our land in the shine of six suns
Deep in my heart I feel the burden of the shapeless dark
I can hear their voices but I can't see their eyes

We are defenders of the flame
We hold the work our ancestors have made
Hear our voices hear the book of revelation
In the sky you'll see the stars
Your finally damnation

Six suns will enter into the cave of darkness
Age of flames'll affect the earth
Set the world in silence
You will see...

Defenders
The flame the work they made
Voices
Revelation
Sky
Stars
Damnation

Six suns
The cave
The darkness
The flame
The age
The earth
The world
The silence

Living in the world of eternal light
There's no chance to damage my mind
Now I'm falling into the embrace of the endless dark
Time has no meaning at this moment for me

Flying through the spiral of expected events
First time I feel the night
Finally I've lost control over my body

Suddenly I can't realize wherever I may roam

I've lost my own way
Stars put insanity on me
With the torch in my hand
I like when fire dances
I encountered confusing sight
I can't remember days before my eyes
Empty wells of my soul
Living side society

Our work is unknown
Observation of the outer space will soon show us more knowledge uncomplete
We suppose another sphere universal theory is not the ending view
Orbital disrupted something has changed our way Departure from common order can unleash general madness
Let us work in peace don't disturb our calm
In spite of all the ignorance we are here to warn
