Are these the pictures you want lost
When your house burns to the ground
All those battles that you fought
Why are you keeping them around
Forgive but not forget it
Why do we live like this
'Cause I'll always regret it
God I can't resist

Tear down those pages of your book
So why write them anyway
Don't regret, embrace the day
This life has so much more to live for
It's something I would die for
Just keep your conscience clean

Must we force this grace to increase
By no means
Lives are changed from these mistakes
But mercy covers sin
We owe you everything

You're teaching me about this love
You're showing me there is enough
You're teaching about this grace
You're showing me your holy face
You're teaching me how to dance
You're showing me this is a romance
You're teaching me that as I am
I can do great things when I'm in your hands

Must we force this grace to increase
By no means
Lives are changed from these mistakes
But mercy covers sin
We owe you everything
