In the light of the new day
The earth still dead
Remains laid to waste and buried
Yesterday all is ashes, ruins now
I stole life away
I was lead by hate and misery
By the hour of flames consuming ground
Holy fire killing all around
By the human quest for freer life
It has fallen by the nuclear knife
No human wisdom could ever be enough
To lead us into brighter times
All evolves and then it ends
Trading hell for worse
Our death was due since long ago as I wanted
Life is dead and gone, final battle
We have crushed and won as I wanted
Even sun blood red, world pulverized
Earth is now dead
All I wanted, inner peace
Peace I never found
For the human garbage blocked my way
But the vengeance came at last
My own day of light
How it crushed and took your lives away
I have conquered
Yet I die with earth
My brief triumph
I have seen the birth of the New World
There is no one there
No more living
No more cross to bare
