"What do you want from me?" That's what she said
I told her I'm sick of being myself
I'm staring and ready to face the fall
Hands down, I'm leaving this up to you
Give it time, think about it, get back to me
Cause I'm crossing my fingers, waiting for you

Once again, It's all the same
As your voice puts me away
Don't tell me what it's like
Don't tell me twice
Cause these walls are closing
And my heart's wide open

When everything is broken, Pain is all I feel
Shattered into pieces, Scars won't heal
This time will be different
We can be together
We can make this new life, last forever

The tides have changed...
I've been doing everything I can
Trying to make sense of all of this
Watching you drift into the sea
Now you're fading far away from me
I'll be waiting right here on the shore line
Turn around and don't tell me this is goodbye

Once again, It's all the same
As your voice puts me away
Don't tell me what it's like
Don't tell me twice
Cause these walls are closing
And my heart's wide open

When everything is broken, Pain is all I feel
Shattered into pieces, Scars won't heal
This time will be different
We can be together
We can make this new life, last forever

I spend my days

Broken inside
So take my hand
Let's make things right

When everything is broken, Pain is all I feel
Shattered into pieces, Scars won't heal
This time will be different
We can be together
We can make this new life, last forever
