When none of you can be questioned
As it spreads the regrets are trying Too many days spent above unchallenged but it all ends here
If I could breath again I'd look down at the writing on the wall
Regret these narcissistic tendencies I'll die before I crawl
Haunted alone by a vision
As wheels turn a young life washed away
Can't be saved
There is nothing but us in a hallway
In the place where they all used to pray
If I could breath again I'd look down at the writing on
the wall
Regret these narcissistic tendencies I'll die before I
crawl
Before I... Crawl
Become a shadow of you
Wasted every trace
Strong enough to face my well earned shame
Don't ever ask me if you can ease the strain
It's washed away
For all to see
You will complete us when all else fails
Then we won't ever shift
The blame
